So Connie my official statement is as follows:

The engineering department designed certain square footage to allow for a small home .
So when that square footage does not reach the requirements why do we even need to b considering it.

The family that resides at the rented house was never given any knowledge to what the owner planned on doing to their backyard that they signed a lease agreement. The owner obviously has no consideration for thier rights or well being, It seems counter productive that the City wants to create housing and in doing so throws a family out into the street to do it.
